Almighty God, Whose Son was crucified yet entered into glory, may we, walking in the way of the cross, find it is for us the way of life; through Jesus Christ our Lord, who is alive and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever.

Almighty and everliving God, in tender love for all our human race you sent your Son our Saviour Jesus Christ to take our flesh and suffer death upon a cruel cross. Inspirational Quote: Here is a king who was born in a manger, trained in a despised village called Nazareth. He wore no imposing regalia, no royal apparel, and displayed none of the earthly trappings of royalty. His courtiers were fishermen and his throne a cross. He was without a palace, and was often without food, and sometimes a fugitive. Yet today his name is the most widely known and fondly loved on earth.

Holy Week: Today we begin our celebration of Holy Week. We walk with Jesus from the glory of the palms to the glory of the Resurrection, through the valley of suffering and death. And in remembering Jesus' suffering, we also remember our own. In remember Jesus' strength and love in the face of persecution, we remember our own frailties. We will have opportunity this week to write all these things and anything else on paper and pin them to the cross as a sign of surrendering them to God. These are things we normally prefer to forget, and yet, remembering them in this context, in the context of Christ's sacrificial love for us, we are offering them to him and his suffering sanctifies our suffering, his forgiveness offered from the cross frees us from our sins. His obedience to God and love for God and his people strengthens our own commitment to the path of love. Then on Easter Sunday, as we celebrate his resurrection from the dead, we also celebrate our own resurrection to new life, by the grace of God.

PWRDF Campaign: To date we have raised $440 of our goal of $1500. Don't forget to get your Primate's Fund offering in in the next few weeks.
